South Bay P.D. adds new mode of transportation to the force

The South Bay Police Department recently purchased a police bicycle that will be used in conjunction with the Community Policing Program that is presently in effect within the city.

The bike is equipped with a cellular telephone, a battery pack, a cigarette lighter, a helmet for the rider and a water bottle. A speed radar detector can also become a feature on the bicycle if it is carried on the back of the bike.

Susan Harrelle of the South Bay Police Department said the total purchase of the bicycle was $889.94. The funds for the purchase came from the Law Enforcement Trust Fund.

The first day the bike made a debut to the public, South Bay Police Sergeant G. Alves patrolled the community's school crossing corner. Even though the speed limit within that section is 15 mph, Sgt. Alves was able to clock some motorists going as fast as 35 mph. While some people received tickets for excessive speed, many people received warnings and violations.

"We are not here to right tickets, we're here to make the people aware that this is a school zone and the speed limit is 15 mph," Sgt. Alves said. "I don't think people realize how fast they are actually going when they come through here."

Sgt. Alves said the bicycle will make him more accessible to the community. He said there are many times when he is in the patrol car, he is not able to know all that is going on in the community. He said he thinks the residents will feel they can communicate with him better if he is on the bicycle.

Sgt. Alves said the bike will be about the community two to three times per week conducting the Community Policing Program. He said he will use the bike to go door-to-door and confer with residents about their concerns and complaints.

Sgt. Alves said everybody that he's come in contact with is very positive about the bicycle. He said, "The children are especially crazy about the bike."

Sgt. Alves said the same type of bicycle is presently in use at a police department in the Fort Lauderdale area. According to him, the bike has been known to travel up to speeds as fast as 40 mph.

A fire destroyed a home in Freedom Village, in Pahokee Monday, June 6. The fire left a Pahokee mother of seven homeless. According to Heather Teeters, director of the Red Cross West County Service Center, the entire upper level of the two-story home is "completely gone."

Ms. Teeters said Red Cross offered to assist the woman with housing, however, she was able to stay with her sister-in-law until she is able to find housing. Ms. Teeters also said Red Cross is assisting the family with food and clothing. The Red Cross will attempt to help the family find housing and when that is accomplished, Ms. Teeters said they will also help with replacing beds and some of the furniture that was destroyed in the fire.

The children range in ages from 4 to 13.

Persons wishing to make donations to Elizabeth Jackson and her family may contact the Red Cross at 992-9703.

GCI inmate attacks corrections officer

Tammy Jackson

Staff Reporter

An early morning fight between two inmates at the Glades Correctional Institute in Belle Glade led to the attack of a corrections officer who was on duty at the time.

According to Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department reports, Inmate Carl Chisholm, 35, of Lauderhill, attacked inmate Nathaniel Jeff. When Officer Monroe Young, 24, tried to intervene and stop the fight, Chisholm turned on him and punched him in the face.

Officer Young was transported to the Everglades Regional Medical Center

Emergency Room by another employee as he was treated and released.

Reports indicate Officer Young had swelling of the face and a gold capped tooth was damaged.

Police said Chisholm was serving a six-year prison term for Battery on a Law Enforcement Officer. He had been incarcerated for four years. He was booked in the Palm Beach County Jail and charged with Battery on a Law Enforcement Officer and Simple Battery. His bond was set at $5,000.

Officer Young had been employed by GCI for three years.

Former State Attorney campaigning for vacant State Senate seat

Former State Attorney David Bludworth recently announced his candidacy for State Senate District 35. The announcement kicked off a three-day swing of the six county district which stretches from West Palm Beach to Fort Myers.

"I am pleased to have this opportunity for public service as a strong, conservative voice for the people of District 35," Mr. Bludworth said.

"As the State's Attorney for the 15th Judicial Circuit from 1972 to 1992, I have seen the areas of this district grow but the basic hopes for the people remain constant: safe streets and neighborhoods, quality schools, and a return to traditional values. Many times, this message gets lost on the way to Tallahassee. I'll make sure the message gets there loud and clear," said Mr. Bludworth.

Mr. Bludworth noted the criminal justice system is being reorganized under the leadership of Republican members of the legislature. "Many facets of the State's criminal justice system are being reorganized from top to bottom including the creation of the new Juvenile Justice Agency. My service as a State Attorney, a municipal judge and Special Assistant State Attorney General provide me the necessary insight and on-the-ground experience to insure that these reorganizations and new agencies run effectively and efficiently."

ciently to begin to solve the spiraling crime problem," Mr. Bludworth said.

"Over the course of this campaign," Mr. Bludworth said, "I intend to extensively travel this district to hear directly from the people about their concerns in order to effectively reflect them in Tallahassee. As the Senator from District 35, I will devote the same energy to remain in constant touch with the voters to combine the benefit of my experience with their voices to give them the best representation possible."

State Senate District 35 includes portions of Charlotte, Glades, Lee, Manatee, Okaloosa and Palm Beach counties. The seat became vacant when Senator Mark Foley, Republican, announced his candidacy for the United States Congress.

Corps of Engineers conducting workshop on ecosystem

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is conducting the second round of public workshops on how to modify the Central and Southern Florida Project to restore the South Florida ecosystem and provide for other water-related demands.

The first round of public workshops, held in December, focussed on the important resources, the problems and opportunities, and indicators of success. In the second round, the Corps will provide the public with the results of the first round of workshops and some of the many preliminary ideas which the study team will evaluate. They will also ask the public's ideas on how best to solve some of the problems.

The workshop will be at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, June 28, at the John Boy Auditorium, 1300 S.W. Owens Avenue, Clewiston. The Central and Southern Florida Project was first authorized in 1948 and covers about 116,000 square miles stretching from Orlando to the southern tip of Florida. The project is a network of canals and water control structures designed to provide many services: flood control, water control, water conservation, prevention of saltwater intrusion, navigation, recreation, preservation of fish and wildlife, and water supply to Everglades National Park.

The study area includes the Kissimmee River, Lake Okechobee, Everglades Agricultural Area, water conservation areas, lower east coast, Everglades National Park, Big Cypress National Preserve, Florida Bay, and the Reef Tract.

The first round of public workshops, held by the Corps were very well attended - over 2,200 at 10 workshops.

Glades Empowerment Zone Coalition presents priorities during rural advisory council meeting

The Glades Empowerment Zone Coalition presented its priorities to the Rural Advisory Council Wednesday, June 8, at the Belle Glade City Hall.

The cities of South Bay, Pahokee and Belle Glade and Palm Beach County are preparing a $40 million grant application on behalf of Glades area communities. Eligibility for the grant is based, first, on the poverty level of certain census tracts within the Glades. A primary evaluation method of the Empowerment Zone/Enterprise Community application and strategic plan is the involvement of low-income people in the planning process.

The Glades Empowerment Zone Coalition was established because it did not see the integral inclusion of low-income people in the planning process, as required by law. The EZ/EC application guide specifically states "there must be evidence of a community-based planning process with widespread participation by low-income people." The poverty level inside the designated empowerment zone is above 35 percent. As well, the zone is 72.8 percent blacks. Coalition representatives presented priorities established from the series of meetings held to address increasing the self-sufficiency of individuals living within the designated EZ/EC Zone.

The City of Pahokee will be sponsoring the "Summer Food Service Program for Children" at recreational, enrichment, school sites, parks, playgrounds or day camps during the months of June, July and August.

The program is similar to the National School Lunch Program. It provides nutritionally balanced meals to needy children regardless of race, color, creed, religion, sex, handicap, age or national origin during summer vacation when school breakfasts and lunches are not available. All children 18 years old or younger, both enrolled and non-enrolled, are eligible for a lunch at no charge. Non-enrolled children at open sites are required to register for the meals.

The programs are approved for sites that draw children from areas where at least one-half of the children qualify for free or reduced price meals. Summer feeding sites that are located at schools must be open and provide meals to all children in the immediate vicinity in addition to those enrolled in the summer school. Children not enrolled in summer schools must also pre-register in advance for the meals.

Food programs will be offered at City of Pahokee Community Recreation Complex, 360 E. Main St.; City of Pahokee, city park (building), 601 Bacom Point Rd.; Padgett Island Center, 899 Padgett Circle; and, Fremd Village Center, 401 Shirley Dr.

Boy Scouts assist in restoration effort

On Saturday, April 23, 1994, Boy Scout Troop 602, which is sponsored by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in Belle Glade, assisted the Mayor of Belle Glade in an environmental restoration effort. They enjoyed planting dozens of cypress trees on Kraemer Island which is located in the southern portion of Lake Okechobee.

The trees were graciously donated by the Army Corps of Engineers. They also enjoyed the airboat ride to and from the island which is cordially provided by the South Florida Water Management District (SFWMD).

Participating troop members were Milton Ponce, Cesar Ponce, Stevie Sneed, Eddie Garcia, Roger Dowell and Scout leaders Norm McDonald, Scoutmaster; and, Jesse Puente, assistant.

Special appreciation goes to the local Scouting District Executive Tony Smith for coordinating the service project, and Rick Lyman from the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission who arranged the airboat transportation.

Each scout and scout leader who participated had an enjoyable and memorable experience of mixing fun with work.

The largest scale model of the solar system was developed by a museum in Illinois. The sun, with a diameter of 36 feet was painted on the museum and Pluto was placed some 40 miles away.

Where's the Community Policing?
"I'm a citizen of South Bay and I was just curious today because I saw in the paper a couple of months ago, about the Community Policing that was supposed to start up.

I wonder when this is going to start up because I haven't seen any officers out and I know there was a big thing in the paper about the grant for the Community Policing, but I haven't seen these community officers out and about."

Editor's note: We spoke with South Bay City Manager Lester Baird who said the Community Policing has been going on since January of this year. There are two officers assigned to this program and Mr. Baird said they have been concentrating most of their efforts in the South Bay public housing areas and in South Bay Villas.

Thank you for Speaking Out.

Congratulations graduates

"Now that each Glades-area senior has graduated from high school, I think it's time that the community stand proud and congratulate our youths. With the world in such shambles as it is today, we must render congrats to our seniors each and every day. To the seniors that graduated, the world is yours for the taking. Reach your hand out and take a big hunk of it. To those upcoming seniors, make yourself proud of yourself and we, the public, will be proud of you. The world today is a cruel and evil world and everyone deserves an education and a good education. You can do it just as many other seniors have done it. Stand tall and know that people from the Glades care about each other. Good luck in whatever you plan to pursue."

Remember your first job?

By Martha Larson
Director of the Division of Labor, Employment and Training for the State of Florida

Perhaps the greatest learning experience of your life is your first job. You learn about what it's really like in the working world. You learn about choosing a career and planning for your future. You learn how to manage money and how to save for college or for your first car. For some, their first job is an opportunity to meet a role model or mentor that will help guide them down a career path. For others, it is the first step to a lifelong career.

The first summer job that Florida State University (FSU) Basketball Coach Pat Kennedy has led to his future employment. He worked at a summer camp year after year. He started out as a busboy and then worked as an instructor and finally as a coach. "It (coaching) is love with me and is now part of my life," said Mr. Kennedy.

Steve Spurrier, football coach of the University of Florida (UF), also fondly remembers his first summer job. "I was a scorekeeper for little league baseball. I learned way back then that if you're going to do a job, do it the right way, and do it on time."

For FSU Baseball Coach Mike Martin, his first job was as a park supervisor. It gave me insight into responsibility, leadership, and, very importantly, how a person works - both inside and out."

The first job for FSU Football Coach Bobby Bowden was as a director for a YMCA in Alabama during "I coached the basketball and baseball teams. It helped pay my way through school. I'm sure it helped because I was coaching young men - which is what I do now."

For these coaches, their first summer jobs were memorable and rewarding experiences. Shouldn't every young person today have that opportunity? Governor Lawton Chiles and the Florida Department of Labor think so.

They held a press conference on May 11 to encourage Florida businesses and organizations to hire young people for summer jobs. This is not a new program, but instead is designed to reemphasize existing programs and provide young people ages 16-21 with a summer experience that will help them determine their future interests and talents.

According to Governor Chiles, "The Summer Youth Jobs program is a unique opportunity for businesses and organizations throughout the state to help the adults of tomorrow."

By hiring a youth, you will be investing in Florida's future," Governor Chiles also believes that the project is one of a variety of prevention strategies that will help at risk youth to fulfill their promise and steer them away from a destructive path of crime.

If you are a business owner or are in a hiring position, consider hiring a young person for the summer.

You'll be investing in Florida's future and making a difference in the adults of tomorrow. As Lon Kruger, UF Basketball Coach said, "Business people who provide an opportunity for young people to work are doing a great justice in giving them a practical insight as to what lies ahead."

Remove the boundary lines

After working in the Glades for over four years, I thought now would be the appropriate time to reveal my secret shame.

I have been an active Coast-holic from day one. While my public persona has been one who tries to help Glades residents through my work at the clinic, every night I secretly sneak back to my home and family in West Palm Beach! Is this too terrible for words? I have tried going to 12 step meetings but I have not been able to admit my powerlessness over living on the Coast. How dare I work in the Glades and not live here as well!

Luckily, I am being held accountable for my transgressions. I have been told by several Glades residents that any good that I may possibly achieve while working here, will be negated by the injury my living elsewhere is causing others.

Of course, like many Coast-holics, I am in denial. I think that my having a home in and family in West Palm Beach should not add nor detract from my efforts to provide caring services to folks in the Glades. I am so much in denial, that I didn't even realize that I was living on the Coast until some Glades folks told me so. (I don't live on or near the ocean. I thought the "Coast" referred to oceanfront property where rich folks lived.) I have been taught by others that there are "Glades" folks and that there are "Coast" folks, and that neither is supposed to like or trust each other too much. (I wonder if the same principle should apply to "Jupiter" folks versus "Bouton Beach" folks versus "Lantana" folks, etc.)

I think I am really a hopeless case. I refuse to believe that I should automatically like or dislike a class of people. I believe that people should be judged for what they do and not where they came from. I believe that good and sincere efforts in others should be applauded, even if they don't match my own personal agenda. I believe it is possible to elevate yourself without putting down others. My denial is so strong that I think it is possible to live and work without buying into "Us" versus "Them" politics.

Last night I had a dream that there was a county where people were not judged by the color of their skin, or where they lived; but rather by the content of their character. Of course, nothing should be taken seriously, since I am, after all, just a sick Coast-holic.

Honor students at YMS receive a trip to Busch Gardens

May has been a month of celebrating student successes at Lake Shore Middle. The third nine weeks Honor Roll Breakfast recognized 225 A/B students, 131 A/B with only one C, and 29 straight A students. Breakfast was cooked and served by the cafeteria staff or honorees and parents. Certificates and awards were presented.

The end of the year recognition for academic success includes well over 300 students maintaining a 3.0 scholastic average receiving a trip to Busch Gardens on Saturday, June 4.

In addition, eight students have been awarded a trip to Washington, D.C. for maintaining a 3.7 scholastic average, and scoring between the 85-95 percentile on the CTBS test administered in April.

Percy Napier, with an outstanding 4.0 average for the entire school year and CTBS standardized test scores above the 91st percentile has been awarded a trip to New York.

Twenty-seven students were inducted into the National Junior Honor Society at the traditional ceremony held for parents and friends on Wednesday, May 25.

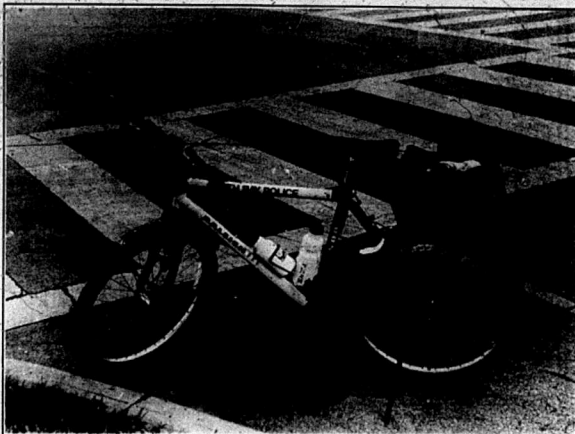

Lifelong Solutions for Male Students held their annual awards banquet on Thursday, May 28. Dinner was served, awards were given to students, recognition of mentors was highlighted. Officer Albert Dowdell was the keynote speaker.

Lake Shore's Special Olympians journeyed to Tallahassee with other Glades area Olympians the weekend of May 20. A total of 18 students participated in track, field and volleyball events. The Lake Shore volleyball team placed second for the State of Florida, while both the boys and girls track and field teams placed first. The athletes were coached by Bennie Murvin, James Harrington, Kelly Anderson and Laura Odums.

Lake Shore's awesome Glades Track Club won their 15th consecutive county championship the week of May 23. They received many individual, as well as group awards. The Lake Shore boys track team placed second in the county, with many individual accomplishments as well.

Lake Shore students paid a day long visit to Kravis Center to participate in the Very Special Arts program. Several Lake Shore students performed a dance routine under the direction of Laura Odums. Numerous sketches, projects, and artistic renderings were on display at the Kravis Center.

The bicycle at the South Bay Police Department is equipped with a cellular phone, blue reflector lights, a cigarette lighter, battery pack, a cigarette lighter and a water bottle. The bike will be in use at least three times a week.

Artist's work on display at PBCC library

Lydia Polyanchek says she's an amateur photographer, but her work, which is on display at Palm Beach Community College, Glades campus, tells a different story.

Mrs. Polyanchek works at the Everglades Research and Education Center in Belle Glade. She does photo documentation for the agricultural engineering department. She is currently learning microscopic photography.

Thirty-nine of her photos are on display outside the library at PBCC. Most are of beautiful flowering plants which grow along the canals in the area. Her job is to provide educational materials for the station.

With a small camera she goes out and takes photos of canals, pumps and vegetation. Most of her photography was taken while plants were in bloom in 1992 and 1993.

Mrs. Polyanchek is a chemist and biologist with a degree in biology.

Her work has been on display at the Okeechobee Nature Center, the Montessori School in Delray Beach and will be on display at PBCC possibly through the fall term.

RAUL A. RAMOS, M.D.

The experts all agree that 1994 may be an active year for hurricanes. It doesn't really matter, however, if they're correct because it only takes one storm hitting us to make it an active year.

Project Graduation is a program encouraged by Palm Beach County Schools to ensure a safe and fun-filled celebration. The class of '94 would like to thank all the local businesses who provided financial support of this project.

Underclassmen awards day took a new twist this year. Instead of the usual hour assembly, an entire day of celebration was provided for those students receiving departmental awards. After awarding certificates in the main cafeteria, honorees were treated to an early lunch and a movie followed by treats in the main cafeteria. In addition, Dr. Grear awarded t-shirts, cups and pens to those students receiving more than one award. All in all, the day was a complete success.

School will soon be out and this is the last column of the 1993-94 school year. We will miss Beth Buchanan who has consistently contributed to this column for the past two years. Good luck Beth!

Glades residents attend CPR class at governmental complex

If the occasion demands, can you save a child's life?

When it comes to getting the knowledge necessary to save the life of a child, the employees at the West County Governmental Complex have shown their commitment to the Glades area kids.

As the summer was beginning, Palm Beach County Commissioner Ken Fosters' Aide, Sue Bailey, discovered that she and many others at the county complex wanted to know how to save a child with heart or breathing failure. The recent saving of a child in the Royal Palm Beach area by a fireman neighbor brought this home to Mrs. Bailey. "When I realized that I might be able to save a child's life by learning a few simple CPR techniques, I looked for a way to get that training," said Mrs. Bailey.

Mrs. Bailey contacted the American Heart Association in West Palm Beach. With the support of Jean Shunk, direc-

Glades Day School Gator Cheerleaders follow their team and provide chants and enthusiasm for the players and the crowd.

Fathers playing a more active role a woman's pregnancy

Many people believe that a man's contribution to "making babies" begins and ends at the moment of conception. However, there is increasing evidence which suggests that fathers have a far larger impact on the health and birth of their unborn babies.

In advance of Father's Day, the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation will focus on the man's role in the health of his pregnant partner and their baby. In a multi-media health education campaign — "Men Have Babies Too" — the March of Dimes breaks with the traditional view of pregnancy as solely the women's responsibility. (The March of Dimes initially launched the campaign on Father's Day last year and it was very well received by health professionals, the news media and the general public.

"Fathers to be are taking a more active and supporting role in their partner's pregnancy," said Paul Hunt, chairman of the March of Dimes Professional Program Action Committee (HPPAC) in South Florida.

Mr. Hunt said a father can play a very important part in the birthing process by being involved throughout pregnancy and childbirth. Together, both partners can get ready for the baby's birth. A father-to-be can learn about his role in labor and delivery. Getting involved helps both partners feel more relaxed and secure.

Host families sought for Foreign Exchange Students; learning experience for student and host family

"The land of unlimited possibilities... a popcorn and football, cheerleaders and pep assemblies, Tylenol and Wal-Mart, miles and fahrenheit, teaspoons and inches, I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America... Valentine's Day and Senior Prom, hall passes and school spirit, Edgar Allan Poe and Thomas Jefferson, to borrow and to lend, Pearl Jam and the Hard Rock Cafe, bowling and shooting pool, butter in a spray can and ice makers. All of this is America - and I was part of it," wrote Tina Ammann, a Swiss high school foreign exchange student who has spent the past year living with a family in Oklahoma.

"I promised myself years ago that I'd never, in my whole entire life, live on a pig farm. But where did I end up? Living on a pig farm! And let me tell you, it's been GREAT," stated Ingrid Forntus, a Swedish student living in Illinois. "I want to thank my wonderful host parents for sharing their home and their love with me."

Each year, thousands of American families welcome a foreign exchange student into their homes. By continuing this tradition of generosity, these exceptional families are making an untold contribution to world peace. American Intercultural Student Exchange (AISE) is a nationwide non-profit organization which is currently seeking host families across the United States to host these foreign high school students.

Those who are interested in receiving more information about AISE may call toll-free at 1-800-SIBLING.
